Putting her best foot forward

The animated and energetic Charlotte Diamond held a rapt audience of about 60 children with her performance last Saturday at the high school. Diamond's act was the first of the delightful Children's Concert Series for the 1990-91 season.

Davis says Chamber information misleading

by Susan Grober

Dysart Reeve Bill Davis says county council was given misleading information about why the Chamber of Commerce gave up the Ministry of Transportation licensing service in September.

At last Wednesday's meeting, council discussed an October 3 letter sent from the ministry to Chamber Manager Robyn Jarvis regarding the difficulties encountered with operation of the service.

Ministry staff confirmed on numerous occasions that the office was in breach of four sections of its agreement with the ministry, wrote District Manager Hope Boehm.

"These sections relate to adherence to ministry policies, procedures and directives, including the proper collection and depositing of ministry funds on a daily and regular basis," Boehm said. "In fact, there were numerous problems with the depositing of ministry funds."

These violations were discussed several times with members of the Chamber, "and still the problems existed," wrote Boehm. "Therefore as district manager, I would have had no alternative but to strongly recommend termination of this office."

Davis asked Stanhope Deputy-Reeve Ann Barker, who is both an elected chamber director and the county's liaison with the chamber, if she was aware of the letter and the occurrences listed within.

Barker said Warden Don Shortreed requested the letter, and that the problems first came up when someone broke into the chamber office.

"The key was broken, and they couldn't get into the deposit bank," she said. "The manager wasn't aware they weren't being deposited every day."

Davis said in September Barker told council the chamber decided against continuing the service because it was operating at a loss. "I was led to believe, not only by your report but by some members of the chamber, that there weren't any problems," he said.

Barker said the problems were indicated at the time.

"You said it was not financially viable," countered Davis.

"It wasn't," said Barker.

"But there was more," Davis ended.

Shortreed agreed that county council, which contributes $7,000 annually to the chamber, should have been made aware of any problems. "Maybe we could have assisted, but if we're not aware there's nothing we can do."

Meanwhile, the service will continue at the chamber office until a new location is chosen. Barker said the decision should be made by December 31.

"Right now, they're doing security checks of the applicants," she explained. "Until then, it's business as usual."

Welfare budget deficit

Haliburton County's share of social services costs was over budget by $37,770 at the end of October, says the committee chairman.

Bern Berry addressed county council last Wednesday with his report on the Social Services Committee. He said the provincial government's share is also over budget by $194,223.

"These are depressing statistics, with no relief in sight," said Berry, who is also Minden's deputy-reeve.

However, the province should pick up the costs if its share comes up short, as it has in the past, Berry said. "The items that we control — supplementary aid, special assistance and administration, will be within budget," he added.

Berry also commented on a provincial government audit report completed last month which "was very complimentary to our social services staff and new director, Morris Honeyman."

The report stated forms and reports were being processed correctly, and clients dealt with fairly, "even though the workload has increased dramatically over the last year."

In October, 152 general welfare assistance cases were dealt with compared to 103 cases in October 1989, he said. Also, there were 90 intake cases compared to 59 in that period.

Berry thanked Honeyman and his staff, as well as committee members, Warden Don Shortreed, and County Councillors Harry Davis and Keith Tallman.

Dysart rejects idea of second planner

by Susan Grober

Dysart councillors say they are not interested in starting a bureaucracy by accepting a proposal to hire another county planner.

Dysart joined a number of other councils which are opposing county planner Mark Stagg's proposal for a county planner service to be paid for on a user-fee basis.

"We don't even know where our Official Plan is going yet," said Reeve Bill Davis. "It's premature."

"It's absolutely premature," agreed Councillor Murray Fearrey. "We're talking major bucks. We're updating our Official Plan right now and spending money and we don't know what's happening (at the county level)."

Fearrey said it's important to determine whether the county-wide Official Plan will be a one-tier system, or two-tier system which involves Official Plans for both each individual municipality and the county.

Fearrey feels compensation should be made for those municipalities which already have Official Plans: Dysart, Minden, and Cardiff.

Councillor John Parish said Stagg's position should be looked at more closely. "It sounds like another bureaucracy is building."

Along with the Official Plan, Stagg must also deal with the county's economic development strategy and restructuring of the county's 10 municipalities.

"If anything, restructuring has to happen first," said Davis.

Fearrey also opposed Stagg's request to review copies of municipal proposals. "I would object if (the county) was commenting on rezonings and severances," he said.

Councillor Lloyd Leadbeater objected to the idea of having a central planner deal with each municipality. "It's too far from the grassroots,"

Dessert anyone?

Some men should know better than to rile a woman who has easy access to a pie — especially if she's a feminist like Shelley Van Nood's character in The Tomorrow Box, a Highlands Little Theatre production which runs this Friday and Saturday, and the following weekend, at the high school. The play is about a man who decides to sell the farm and move to Florida... without telling his wife. The rest of the cast is made up of Kim Coulter, Irene Lubowitz, Doug Brohm, and Lloyd Johnston as the old-fashioned husband who needs to learn a lesson. Send in more pies!

Warden reflects on his year in office

by Susan Grober

Don Shortreed took some time out during his last county council meeting as warden last Wednesday to reflect on the past year.

"It's been a very enlightening year for me," he said. "I've learned a lot."

Shortreed thanked county council and staff for their co-operation, and said he enjoyed "working with a council that I have to say is very dear to my heart."

Still, there had been a few arguments between councillors over the past year, acknowledged Short-reed, who is also reeve of Sherbourne et al.

"The issues before us are not easy to solve," and each councillor has to keep the best interests of their municipality in mind.

However, it's important for the municipal representatives to think of the county as a whole, said Shortreed. "We have to put their interests above that of the individual townships, and I think this council has done that."

Issues the county has dealt with over the past year — such as a county-wide Official Plan, restructuring, and health and social services — will require more of county council's time.

"We have a lot of work ahead of us," he said. "But I think that through a lot of work and goodwill, we can see a light at the end of the tunnel."

After the meeting, Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe offered his congratulations to Shortreed. "I commend you on your coolness, and your sedateness under fire, and I'm sure the rest of the county feels the same."

County council is electing a new warden next month.

where increases in student enrolment have left the board scrambling to find space.

The board has had to rent the old IGA building on Minden's Main Street to house Kindergarten classes. Recently the board applied to extend the temporary rezoning for the annex, which expires in the spring.

In Haliburton, the Victoria Street School has been slated for closure and space needs to be found to relocate the classes currently being held there.

Trustees have adopted a plan to build additions to both the Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden and the J. D. Hodgson Elementary School in Haliburton. There board is also investigating the possibility of purchasing property to eventually build an additional elementary school that will accommodate students from both villages.

Because the Ministry of Education allocates capital funding three years in advance, the earliest that Haliburton County can expect to receive any provincial money is 1994.

The ministry will announce its next round of capital allocations in March or April and Drainville says he hopes to see Haliburton County on that list.

"There is an obvious need," he said. "We're heading into a crisis and decisions have to be made. I'd hate to go past the Spring without an announcement of funding for Haliburton County."

County considers plan to deal with varies types of local emergency situations

by Susan Grober

A diagram for an Emergency Services Plan was presented to Haliburton County Council last Wednesday.

Cardiff Reeve Maurice Bradley said it was necessary that the diagram be drafted for the county to apply for provincial funding to cover 45 per cent of the total $8,000 cost for the plan.

If a disaster strikes, there are different levels to be channeled through to determine which level (the municipality, the county, or the province) is best suited to deal with the problem, explained Bradley.

It all pertains to the type of disaster. For instance, if there is a nuclear disaster at the Pickering plant and the wind is carrying toxic chemicals up, "all three would go into action," he said.

There are also safeguards near the end of the process to make sure no information is released to the media or the public before consultation has taken place between the county and the province.

"We're not trying to hide anything from anybody," said Bradley. "We just want to avoid undue panic."

The $8,000 will cover costs which include production of a catalogue and printing of maps. Next year, the county can apply for step two, the communication program.

A 911 emergency number will probably not be available in Haliburton for at least two years, and may even take longer. "But it is coming up north, and is now in Peterborough and Belleville," he said.

Bradley said he will involve area fire chiefs in the program once funding comes through.

Landfill fieldtrip

Students evaluate local waste disposal

by Tom O'Shaughnessy
Archie Stouffer Elementary School

For many of us from Archie Stouffer School it was more than just a regular trip to the dump. It was a trip to look into our future.

We travelled to four landfill sites: Scotchline, Ingoldsby, Snowdon and Dysart. We also visited the Sewage Treatment Plant in Haliburton village.

Scotchline

The bus rumbled over the ruts and bumps as we pulled into the Scotchline Landfill Site; our first destination.

Waiting for us was the Deputy-Reeve of Anson, Hindon and Minden, Bern Berry. He was open and cooperative when questions were asked. Composting was something which he promoted for all of us to do because it usually saves about 30 to 40% of the waste going to "dumps".

He advised us of the landfill site's financial situation. The annual budget is $50,000 but out of that comes many expenses such as the recycling bin. To have this much-needed bin it has already cost $3,500 this year from January to November. Muskoka Containerized Services of Bracebridge picks up the bottles, cans and paper on a regular basis.

We also talked to the Site Attendant, Carter Austin. He toured us around the site and showed us many interesting things such as the leechate pipes which are special devices that check the water quality under the ground in case of any contamination. From my observations there still might be some unsolved problems. I discovered, along with my assistant Carol Mowat, a large fast-running stream filled with oil, pieces of old tires and household garbage.

Even though there might be a few problems the site should be congratulated on the way their metal and metal products are contained. They have a regular pickup of their metal items and their car batteries. As well they have a recycling bin. But it was noticeable that the public should use it better.

Ingoldsby

We found Bruce Nesbitt waiting for us as we pulled through the wrought iron gates at the Ingoldsby Landfill Site. Nesbitt had much to tell us, and when we asked about problems at the site he informed us about "the controversy". Many residents of Kashagawigamog Lake and Canning Lake are concerned about the possibility of leechate leaking from the Ingoldsby Site into the lakes.

He told us that there haven't been any problems yet and this dump has been here for a long while.

However, there was an easily observed problem regarding metal. The site does not have a regular pick up of these items which results in heaps of old stoves, washer, dryers, T.V.s, etc.

Ingoldsby is one of the few sites in Haliburton County which has a legal burning permit. According to Nesbitt, some users of the site feel that this pollutes the air and damages the ozone layer. He feels that it eliminates the volumes of garbage.

Of Special Interest

Clif Clarke and Gavin Gartshore found amongst the "dump cats" $9.00 frozen in the ground. These bills were dated from 1954. They thought these kind of field trips should be taken more often.

Snowdon

At this somewhat congested site we observed an interest in recycling however, we were unsure as how the recyclables would eventually get separated.

There was evidence of garbage, tires and brush having been burned. Yet before our very eyes a bright yellow sign clearly stated that burning was not permitted. We wondered if this was a case of arson.

Dysart

The Dysart landfill site was unlike any of the others we visited. Many efficient and environmentally friendly actions have been taken there.

We talked with Sam Charlton, Dysart's friendly attendant about some problems.

One of the points he mentioned over and over again was that "most" of the garbage occupying the site consisted of cardboard boxes, a problem yet to be solved.

One of the efficient acts was the lining up of their tires. All the tires were neatly placed in rows and off to the side of the site. The reason for this all has to do with fire prevention. If the tires are in rows it is much easier to fight in the event of fire. However, as was pointed out at the other landfill sites there is no way to get rid of them at the present time.

The site has many recycling bins, and bright signs to show where things are to be put. They also have baskets where people can put the plastic bags in which they bring their recyclables. This is supposed to keep the bags out of the bins. I believe the Dysart landfill site could be a model for the others.

The Haliburton Sewage Treatment Plant

Our capable bus driver, Paul Aggett showed his expert driving skills as he inched the bus backwards up the hill towards the Haliburton Sewage Treatment Plant. The Chief Operator, Doug Kernohan, toured us around the comminuter (a large tank which contains various stages of sewage). Some of the students felt that this could be one of the "smelliest" places in town.

We were told that the effluent is tested each month for phosphates and that if the power goes out there is a standby diesel generator.

This particular plant is smaller than the one in Minden even though Haliburton is a larger village.

The future is R's

We are using our observations from this valuable field trip to help us with our presentation on December 13 to Anson, Hindon and Minden Council regarding The Future is R's: Reduce, Reuse, Recycle.

Students serenade council

Students of Bonnie Lee Berry's Grade 5 class collaborated to present a unique environmental message to Minden council last Thursday.

With the help of puppets representing a can, a bottle and paper, the children performed a play to stress the importance of reducing, reusing and recycling goods.

"I don't want to be put in the dump under dirty diapers," moaned the can, who would rather have been recycled.

Afterward, a larger group performed a humorous rap song to help underline the message.

"I wish you'd come to all our councils, because we don't have that much to laugh about," said Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry.

"Maybe if we did all our council meetings in rap, it would be more interesting," added Councillor Mike Maher.

Reeve Ray Moore thanked the students for their entertaining way of presenting the "three Rs."

Archie Stouffer Elementary students will return to council for another presentation at its December 13 meeting.

Valuable lessons

It's amazing how much elementary education has changed during the past 15 years.

Last week's field trip by students of Archie Stouffer Elementary School shows just how different attitudes towards school really are.

Many of us will remember when classes were based primarily on the basics - reading, writing and arithmetic, when some art and physical education thrown in for variety.

Field trips, by and large, were either 'cultural' experiences that involved hand-holding students trooping through museums to gaze blankly at exhibits, or an afternoon at a dairy farm to learn where milk and cheese really come from.

In either case, the real intent of the trip was to get the students away from the classroom for a day, with a concentration on entertainment rather than education.

So to see a group of students examining the condition of the Scotch Line landfill site was both surprising and encouraging.

It was evident that the children have an active and inquisitive interest in the environment and allowing them a first hand look at waste disposal facilities served to heighten and focus that interest.

And the best part of the exercise was the fact that the students were doing more than just learning about the landfill sites, they were working on developing solutions for some of the outstanding problems.

It is with this kind of out-of-classroom experience that the education system is at its best - preparing students to deal with the imperfect world they will inevitably inherit from their parents.

The teachers and students deserve a great amount of credit for taking a real look at real issues between the grammar exercises and long division.

Just think what the world might be today if these attitudes were in practice 30 years ago.

Federal scheme sounds like a lot of buffalo

Regarding the federal government plan to slaughter all the bison in Alberta's Wood Buffalo National Park:

Could someone run that by me again?

The way I understand it, there are some 4,200 bison wandering around in the wilderness area 'way up on the sub-arctic forehead of Alberta. The bison comprise one of the last — and the largest — free-roaming herd in the world.

Our government wants them dead. All of them. Why? Because, according to the government, about 50 per cent of the herd is infected with either bovine brucellosis, tuberculosis or a combination of the two. They're concerned that the diseases could jump from the afflicted bison to healthy domestic cattle herds — and ultimately, to you and me.

A legitimate concern if Wood Buffalo National

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

Park sat in the dairy country of rural southwestern Ontario, or if it bordered on cattle range near the foothills of the Rockies.

It doesn't. Wood Buffalo National Park is 17,500 square miles of primal wilderness between Lake Athabasca and Great Slave Lake. Finding a holstein or a hereford in Wood Buffalo Park is about as likely as finding a herd of bison grazing on the astroturf of Skydome.

Even if there was a cattle ranch next door, it would be a lot cheaper and simpler to string a fence or clear a buffer zone around the park than to try and track down and destroy such a colossal herd of animals.

Think of it: 4,200 shy and survival-savvy wild animals with a wilderness area almost as big as Nova Scotia to hide out in. How many hunters will the government send in? How will they possibly know if they killed every last buffalo? They've allocated 20 million dollars for this macabre massacre. If they miss just one infected buffalo, they might as well have thrown the twenty million bucks in Great Slave Lake.

Ecologists are protesting Ottawa's apocalyptic approach to the "bison problem", not just because it's obscene, but because it's stupid. After all, the government's been aware of the situation for some time. Since 1925, in fact, when government officials

Resident thinks by-law is important

The following is a letter sent to Lutterworth Council.

Your Worship and Members of Council,

Let me say at the outset that no-one appreciates more than I the time and voluntary effort put in by dedicated members of Council that you all have proven to be. I do feel, however, that something has gone awry with your collective purpose of representing the best interests of those in Lutterworth Township who voted for you.

I am copying The Times with this letter, for it arises out of a report in the October 22, 1990 issue, page 13, headlined "Lutterworth Council gives up idea of noise bylaw". Before writing, I enquired one of your members as to whether the report was accurate and was assured it was.

It quotes Councillor Lisa Mercer as saying, "I won't go for it (a Minden noise bylaw proposed by Enforcement Officer Ernie Roylance). It is too vague and "I feel it's going to cause us more hardship than benefit to us." The report also states, "Deputy Reeve Jim McMahon and Councillor Bill Valentine both agreed" and that the latter said, "I'd like to get rid of the whole thing." And "That's three nays, so we'll just file this information until the next time (the problem) comes around," said Reeve Carol Puffer.

I am not alone in believing that there is a serious need for a noise bylaw, for only with the existence of such a bylaw can any legitimate complaints lead to action against persistent, proven violators. Surely it is not your intention to permit any noise at any level at any time at any place in Lutterworth—which is the way you are allowing things to stand, now.

If a proposed bylaw is "too vague" (to quote Councillor Mercer) then it should be reworked, not run away from. If it is "going to cause us more hardship than benefit us" (The Times quoting Councillor Mercer, again) I ask: hardship whom?

Surely the way to "get rid of the whole thing" is providing teeth to enable the "thing" to be resolved. Disruptive noise-making does not simply disappear when it is allowed to continue!

Finally, to paraphrase the reported quotation of Reeve Puffer—drop the whole subject until someone complains again—I found it difficult to believe that that could come from the mouth of a responsible person.

All of you have been given a mandate of authority to establish policies for the administration of this Township. Do not, please do not duck your responsibilities. There SHOULD be a noise bylaw. And YOU should establish it.

Yours very truly,
C. Ian P. Tate.

Objecting to name policy

Editor:

I read with great interest the community story of Norm & Louise Weber's farm their animals and their new family of miniature pigs. It is a great little place here in Metropolitan Gelert. The picture of Louise and the "picture" of the babies were absolutely delightful, so much so that we took our family down for the grand tour of the farm.

Unfortunately I must object with the way Susan Grober continually referred to Louise as just "Weber". Does this journalist have a problem with first names of local celebrities? Or does she have a problem with spelling? Susan in her well written article makes reference to "Weber" in the same equivalency as saying Manson or Bundy. (Famous U.S. murderers.) I find it in very poor taste to lump this very kind and affable woman into the same last name category used for murderers, rapists, bank robbers and people fighting at council meetings!

I cannot help but wonder if Susan prefers to be called "Grober" by her friends and co-workers. I rather think she doesn't. So why in a great community interest article would anyone not have the courtesy to use either this amiable lady's first name or the respectable "Mrs. Weber"?

Hoping I've made my point that a newspaper in a rural tourist area could be a lot more friendly and personal.

All the best and keep the great stories coming Susan.
Walter Griffin

Editor's note: Identification of an individual by their last name alone, after their complete name and title has been given, is a common journalistic practice to which THE TIMES subscribes. We agree that in some of our feature items, the use of the last name alone may appear cold, but it no way reflects on our outlook of the person being identified.

Bison might not think shooting's a good idea knowingly introduced infected bison to the area.

That was 65 years ago. The bison, infected or not, have thrived. And today, after the better part of a century, there has not been a single documented case of one cow or one human being contracting brucellosis or tuberculosis from the animals in the park.

Ecologists point out that the destruction of the herd will wipe out the largest, most diverse American bison gene pool on the planet. Gene diversity is what keeps whole species from vanishing. Once the government rifles fire and the bison die, there is nothing government scientists can whip up in their petri dishes to recreate those genes.

It's ironic. When white men first came to the western plains they found them carpeted with herds of buffalo as far as the eye could see. Our rifles soon fixed that. People used to shoot the buffalo from moving trains, not even stopping to take the meat or the hides. In no time, the huge herds were just a memory. Soon the only place you could see bison was in zoos, or stuffed in museums or, in winter, rendered into coats to keep Winnipeg cops warm. That's partly why Wood Buffalo National Park was created — as a refuge for the largest remaining herd of bison in the world.

Now we're bringing out the rifles again — for the animal's own good. Of course. You bet.

What of the wolves in the park? What are they supposed to eat once the bison are gone? Well, the feds say if the wolves turn to moose or fur-bearing (read commercially valuable) animals then the wolves too will be slaughtered.

This is wildlife management?

A suggestion to Ottawa: why don't you end the controversy over Wood Buffalo Park once and for all?

Why don't you just pave it?

Case load increase causes crisis

Children's Aid running deficit of $1 million

by Susan Grober

The Haliburton Kawartha Children's Aid Society has a projected deficit of more than $1 million over its 1990 budget.

The 1990 budget was originally set at about $5.6 million, but at present is predicted to be $6,143,062 by the end of the year, reported Cardiff Reeve Maurice Bradley during last Wednesday's county council meeting.

"The biggest problem in an increase in intake, which I think is the highest it's ever been," he said.

The total intake of cases has risen dramatically this year, he later told The Times. Normally, 170 cases a month is considered high, but this year the average has been 193.

Increases from some other societies have more than doubled, "so the costs have gone up considerably," he said.

He also noted that the Haliburton Kawartha Children's Aid Society has the highest turnover of staff in Ontario. While the average employee turnover rate is about 23 per cent, the local board is at 37 per cent, he said.

An emergency meeting has been called this week to see where the problem lies, and if it is at the management level. Board members have already met with some staff and social workers to find out their opinions on the matter.

However, Bradley said he doesn't think the cost increases are due to mismanagement. But he and other county councillors are concerned that Haliburton is helping to subsidize costs incurred by other areas.

Dysart Reeve Bill Davis asked about the possibility of Haliburton County looking after its own children's services.

"We can no longer afford to be run by the urban areas in Victoria County and Peterborough County," he said. "I think county council in the next year should take a long look at setting up services in Haliburton County."

"Unless we do some research towards that end, we'll end up with more deficits," agreed Bradley. "If you want to do something, you'll have to act very quickly."

Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe said the intake increase is normal, particularly with the current economic downturn. "Children's Aid goes up and down. With the flux of people moving back and forth, you could get an economic swingaround... There are no quick cures, and there never will be because you're dealing with people."

Bradley said he realizes intake cannot be controlled. But another reason costs have risen is that the province has frozen the amount of funding it provides, yet rates have increased from $14 to $17 per case.

"The ministry should be pressured," said Howe. "Down the road, they should pick up that difference."

There are 18 people who sit on the board: two from Haliburton, one from Victoria, two from Peterborough County, two from the city of Peterborough, and the rest are appointed by the Children's Aid Society.

"We are outnumbered considerably," said Bradley.

Bradley said the Haliburton Children's Aid is made up of four workers (a secretary and three caseworkers) and an office. He promised to get figures on its operating costs for next month's meeting to determine whether Haliburton is taking as much money as it contributes.

"It's a concern of everybody," he later said. "We must seriously look at having a board in the county. And we don't want to send our children out of the county to go into foster homes or into Crown care."

"I always felt that children are best kept in their natural living areas, instead of having to re-orientate themselves in the city, which can cause more problems."

Budget figures for next year are estimated at about $7 million, a 14.5 per cent increase over and above what is actually spent this year.

This year's extra expenses, which are recoverable, have gone up considerably at about $800,000. The government accepts these costs which cannot be budgeted, says Bradley. "Those costs rise without you having any control of them."

A deficit of about $350,000 to $400,000 will not be recovered, he says.

Bradley said social assistance cases in Haliburton County have risen about 91 per cent in the past year.

"Social problems are becoming a problem of our day," he said. "And I guess we must come to grips with the understanding that, as we try to deal with them, we'll have to pay for them, that's for sure."

Reeve objects to negative stories

by Susan Grober

Minden's reeve has spoken out against comments that his council is hampered by infighting and petty squabbling.

At the beginning of last Thursday's council meeting, Reeve Ray Moore responded to a recent editorial in the Haliburton Echo which accuses Minden councillors of letting their personalities get in the way of how they conduct business.

Moore defended his fellow councillors. "Anson, Hindon and Minden council has five strong-willed individuals on it — would you want it any other way?" he asked.

"We have a rapport not necessarily visible by the media or public. Courtesy and respect is there between us, but so are all the other basic elements."

The arguments which are reported on during council and committee meetings are all just a part of the natural decision-making process, Moore pointed out.

"Due to the law, the demands of the media wanting access to all council and committee meetings, many views are brought out in public which are surprises, and no doubt contrary to another's thinking or feelings," he said.

"Communication and misunderstanding of an issue cause many heated debates, ego-bashing, and even some vicious personal comments to evolve."

Moore said the public gets a distorted image of council because the press tends to jump on these hot debates, and ignore less controversial matters.

"It is my opinion that only the problematic decisions and views that get special attention from the media are out in the public, as they should be. The contentious issues which need a quick response are mostly the culprits.

"However, the hundreds of agreeable decisions that this council has made over the past two years at council or committees goes unreported."

Moore asked the press to be more fair and dwell a little more on council's accomplishments.

He also said the differences in personality of each council member is actually a plus for the municipality.

"If we were buddy-buddy, I think some of our decisions would be that much harder to make," he said. "I do believe we all consciously try to do what is good for our townships."

Each councillor works hard and spends a lot of time trying to make things better for the people of Minden, he said. Being on council is more than a full-time job, and each councillor must be aware of the issues.

"Trying to bring all this together from ordinary lay people has not been an easy task," he said. "Never in the history of councils has there been so many changes thrust upon us by senior levels of government and the bureaucracy. It has been almost overwhelming the documentation that a councillor has to read just to keep up."

"I don't think there's anybody here who hates one another," he said in closing. "We just disagree."

Septic costs increase

It's going to cost more to have your septic tank inspected by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit.

Because of rising costs, the rate for inspections will have to rise from $60 to $100, Health Unit Committee Chairman Keith Tallman told county council last Wednesday.

"I don't know of any other way we can do it," said Tallman. "It has to be done to maintain the tight service we have now with the downturn of the economy."

There are eight members on the health unit board: one from Haliburton, two from Victoria, and three from Northumberland County. Tallman reported there are no problems with the rest of the health unit budget, which is $15.5 million.

The ratepayer cost for the health unit is less than seven per cent, and the rest is picked up by the province, so it's a pretty good program," he said.

Thank You.

The Times thanks all the students who participated in the recent essay/poster contest for their time, effort and thoughtful consideration of environmental issues.

A special thank you to Bernie Davis, Bern Berry, Alice Don and Margot Ziorjen for serving as judges and to the community-minded businesses whose support helped to make this contest possible.

Ontario Real Estate Association President Moira Schiedel received a book on Haliburton County from local board president Linda Beachli in gratitude for her role as guest speaker at last Tuesday's annual meeting held at the PineStone Inn.

The Haliburton and District Real Estate Board of Directors gathered at the PineStone Inn last Tuesday night at the group's annual meeting. They are, back row, from left: Linda Baumgartner, Steve Wrightman, past president Don Fevreau, Vice-President Wilfred VanLieshout, and J.O. Jackson. Front row: Region Director Christina Hardy, President Linda Beachli, Dorothy Graham, and Ontario Real Estate Board President Moira Schiedel. Missing from the picture are Charles Smith and Keith Jackson.

Real Estate Board annual meeting Realtors will have to adjust to government's proposed GST in order to survive

by Susan Grober

The economic situation is on a downturn, but realtors will have to take it all in stride in order to survive, says the president of the Ontario Real Estate Association.

Moira Schiedel addressed economic woes and the federal GST last Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Haliburton and District Real Estate Board.

"We look at the downfall of this market, but we've had seven years of a good market," she reminded the realtors. "Believe you me, it will come back up again. We'll just have to ride it out."

Some companies haven't survived, but the rest will have to fight it out, she said. "Keep your chin up, keep working hard, and you won't know this has happened."

It was also stressed that realtors learn how the federal Goods and Services Tax will affect their businesses. Through the board, Schiedel spent more than 80 hours on a committee which put together a booklet, The Realtors Guide to the GST.

She said some were hesitant about producing the booklet "because we don't know if the GST will go through, but it looks like it will... It would be nice to throw that book out."

If the GST goes through, half of a $2,000 real estate transaction for services would go to the government. This includes services such as lawyers fees, surveyors fees, and appraisals to get a mortgage, said Schiedel.

"This is going to be collected from the vendors and from the purchasers," she said. "I encourage you, when you take your listings now, to advise your vendors that it's very possible and very probable that you would have to collect GST."

"If you don't collect from them, you will be paying," she added. "The government is not going to consider that you omitted the GST. They'll consider that you collected $10,000 and a portion of that is GST and the rest is your commission. If you don't pay them, they have a very justifiable case of arbitration."

"Unless you want to take it out of your pocket, make sure the vendor is aware they have to pay."

Schiedel urged realtors who have any questions to phone the board at their office in Don Mills at (416) 445-9910.

Catch Men's League
Hockey action every Monday at the arena starting at 7 p.m.

Times player Barry Shaw rushes in on Home Hardware goalie Kevin Smith during last Monday's Men's League game. Shaw beat Smith and scored the goal but Home scored three goals in the second period and went on to win the game 9-4. It was Home's sixth straight victory.

Hartwick beats Rockcliffe and ends two-game slump

Hartwick Insurance put a stop to a three-game losing skid and snapped a Rockcliffe two-game winning streak in the first game of Men's League hockey action on Nov. 19.

In the first period the two teams traded goals with Hartwick taking a 3-2 lead into the second period. Even play continued through the second period as Rockcliffe fell behind by two goals, then tied it up, fell behind again and scored at the end of the period to make the score 6-6.

Hartwick blew the game open at the start of the third period as they scored four unanswered goals to take a 10-6 lead. Rockcliffe threatened a come-back when they closed the gap by two, but failed to catch Hartwick. Final score 9-11.

Scott Hamilton lead Hartwick with five goals on the night. Eldon Bull and Scott Dobie each earned a hat-trick to round out the Hartick offense.

For Rockcliffe, Jeff Howe scored three, Sid McKeigan and Scott Gartshore each scored two and Jason Stamp and Colin Wilson had a single apiece.

In the second game of the night, Home Hardware continued to dominate the win column by beating The Times 9-4.

Home took an early lead in the first period when Barry Boice scored two straight goals. The Times came back however when Barry Shaw and Doug Allison scored to tie the game and Larry Sawyer added another to give The Times a 3-2 lead.

The lead was short-lived though, as Boice scored his third goal of the period to tied the game at 3-3 going into the second frame.

The second period was all Home. Jeff Stamp, Ken Barry and Dave Rogers each beat Times goalie Duane Lennie to give Home a three-goal lead.

Ed Gibbons added to the lead with his goal at the top of the third and Rogers and Kevin Hamilton each scored for Home as well. Sawyer gave The Times one more goal, but it wasn't enough to stop Home from winning their sixth straight game. Final score 9-4.

In the third and final game, Westside Jug City added to their point total by beating the slumping Sid Stamp Fuels team 9-5.

Westside's Jerry Harrison and Dave Hartwick scored the only goals of the first period to put the team ahead. The lead increased as Bart Hillhorst and Harrison scored the first two goals of the second period to put Westside ahead 4-0.

Sometime during the second period Stamp woke up and scored four goals in a row courtesy of Glenn Hall, Brian Shaw and two by Craig Crowe to tie the game 4-4.

Hartwick put Westside back on track in the third period as he scored two more goals to regain the lead. Ken Casey scored and increased that lead to three.

Shaw cut Westsides lead to two goals, but Hillhorst and Dave Dollo answered with one goal each to give Westside a solid 9-5 victory.

Pee Wees dump Huskies in home and home series

If you have been following the course of the Minden Pee Wee B team, you will know that they are having an excellent start to the season.

This week was no exception as they played Haliburton at home and away and came away with two victories.

The first game played in Haliburton was played on the attack by both teams, Minden being the first to score when Daniel Howell scored from an excellent pass by Andrew Crego. Haliburton came right back to score their first goal, then seconds later they were to score a second goal.

Minden stepped up the pace and with seconds left in the 1st period, Minden scored their second goal when Benji Crego took the puck up the ice and passed it to Arron Belton to tie the game.

During the second period Haliburton was left out in the cold as Minden's defense kept the play out of Minden's end, giving the forward line a chance to score Minden's third goal which was scored by Arron Belton, passed from Daniel Howell.

Try as they might, Haliburton was unable to score again, but we were to see some excellent passing by Minden which led to two more goals. The fourth being scored by Arron Belton assisted by Travis Willison, and the fifth also scored by Arron Belton assisted by Travis Willison and Marty Dettman. Final score, 5-2 Minden.

On Tuesday, November 20 it was Haliburton's turn to travel to Minden where Minden was to have the upper hand for most of the game.

Minden's first goal came well into the first period when Arron Belton passed to Todd Redgrave to score.

The team was really playing well with good skills and each one playing their positions.

Minden kept up the pressure and came through to score a second goal. This time it was Andrew Crego who was to score from a great pass from Arron Belton and Todd Redgrave.

With thirty seconds of the period left, Minden was on a roll and we were to see a third goal when Arron Belton skated around the Haliburton defense and on then passed to Andrew Crego who scored.

The adrenalin was flowing fast now and with 16 seconds left on the clock, Minden scored a fourth goal with Marty Dettman passing to Andrew Crego to score.

The third period was to be just as exciting with Minden scoring four more goals. The fifth being scored by Andrew Crego, unassisted, the sixth by Marty Dettman, from an excellent pass by Daniel Howell. The seventh goal came when Todd Redgrave skated up the ice and sunk the puck unassisted.

It seemed that the whole team was boosted by one another's play and we were to see a new hockey player score his first goal when David Fitzell scored the eighth goal.

During the third period Haliburton managed to score two goals but Minden were quick to follow with three more goals.

This time we were to see the only girl on the team to score her first goal when Arron Belton passed to Bobby Griffin to score assisted by Paul Murry.

The tenth and eleventh goals were scored by Andrew Crego, leaving the final score at 11-2 for Minden.

The weigh stations for this year's derby were located at Robinsons General Store in Dorset, Happy Holiday Variety in Halls Lake, Fosters General Store at Boshkung Lake, Wedgewood Marina on Twelve Mile Lake, The Corner Store, Minden Live Bait and Tackle and Braeside Cottages and Gull Lake Marina, all of Minden.

OMHA Pee Wees play well but lose

by Lisa Bagshaw

On Friday, November 9 Minden travelled to Fenelon Falls for an evening game.

The game remained scoreless until late in the first period when Scott Dedman scored on a pass from Curtis Fielding.

Halfway through the second period, Fenelon scored to tie the game. Less than two minutes later Minden was to come back and score with Jeff Wray shoving the puck past Fenelon's goalie on a pass from Dennis Woods.

Early in the third period, Fenelon scored once again to tie the game. Three minutes later, Minden's David Raback scored to make the score 3-2 for Minden. However, Fenelon was to come back shortly after and score two more goals making the final score 4-3 in Fenelon's favour.

On November 17 Minden was host to Beaverton who opened the score early in the first period and continued to do so for the remaining of the game. The final score was 14-0 for Beaverton.

Minden found it very difficult to play with these boys who seemed to be quite experienced in body contact. Numerous penalties were given to both teams during the course of the game.

On the following day, Minden travelled to Beaverton. Minden opened the score three minutes into the first period when Chris Eskelin shoved one past the opponent's goalie.

In the same period, Beaverton was to come back and score two goals.

In the second period, Beaverton scored the only goal.

Early in the third period Minden's Tommy Bagshaw slipped an unassisted goal by Beaverton's goalie to make the score 3-2.

Unfortunately, Beaverton came back and scored two more goals making the final score 5-2 in Beaverton's favour.

Minden played an excellent game and are to be commended for their great team effort.

Novices beat Oakwood but lose to strong Fenelon team

After a two week lull, the Minden OMHA Rec/Max Novices took to the ice at a tournament in Woodville. Although it was tournament, their first game, against Oakwood, was also a scheduled game.

The Minden boys were ready for this team and proved to be the stronger of the two. They applied pressure right from the start and Nick Kulas pounded in two quick goals unassisted. Next Danny Vanderlip made his way to the front of the net and with the help of Danny Jordan and Gary Kernohan, marked another one. Minutes later, Shawn Casey picked up a pass from Adam Durkin and popped it in.

What happened next was like an instant replay, with Kulas scoring to more times, one unassisted, the second assisted by Matt Reid. The seventh and final goal for Minden came for Vanderlip assisted by Kernohan.

Just before the end of the game, Oakwood broke through and scored their only goal. Final score 7-1.

The second game was against the Fenelon Club. Reports say this is the strongest team in the league. Although they beat us in a previous game 7-1, in this tournament game our boys managed to hold them to a 3-0 score. Even though we lost, we felt we had cut our previous loss in half. These were both good games, but we couldn't have won either without our little mentioned defensemen and goalie. Great playing boys.

Tuesday, November 20, we travelled to Sunderland for a 7:30 game. Once again Kulas got us started with a couple of goals, one unassisted, the other assisted by Durkin. Danny Jordan ended the scoring for Minden on a pass from Kernohan.

Sunderland finally got past our defense and knocked in their only goal. Minden's statistics to date are 5 wins, 1 tie, 1 loss in scheduled in play.

Santa preparing for visit to Minden this weekend

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The sled is polished, the reindeer are in training, the red suit has just come back from the dry cleaners and everyone's favourite jolly, old elf is ready for his annual spree of personal appearances.

Once again, Santa Claus has agreed to take time out of his busy production schedule and take his place of honour in the second annual Minden Lions Club Santa Claus Parade.

"He'll be here next Saturday for the big parade, rain or shine," says Minden resident Gord Monk, who has been in constant contact with the North Pole arranging the big guy's visit. "He's expecting all the Moms and Dads in Minden to bring their children out to see him."

Lions Club member Brian Moore says parade preparations are going well and he's expecting the same number of parade entries as last year - about 40. "There has been a lot of support from the community, both financially and with people entering floats," says Moore.

This year Saturday's parade is being combined with a Moonlight Madness sale on Friday night and a community tree trimming celebration in front of the CIBC on Sunday, being organized by the Minden Kinettes.

"It just sort of fell together," says Moore. "I'm excited about it. Christmas has always been important to me."

Moore says having a full weekend of Yuletide activities should foster a community spirit this season. "It will help bring the town together. People can get out and see their neighbours."

The parade and tree trimming will really be a special treat for area children, says Moore. "Kids' first memories are of Christmas. I think the whole idea of a hometown Christmas is really important."

The festivities kick off on Friday night when local merchants will be keeping their stores open later than usual and cutting their prices to make shopping for presents a real bargain. About 30 stores located downtown and on the highway are participating in the sale.

On Saturday, kids of all ages will want to be on Main Street by 1 p.m. for the parade, which will start at McKnight

GST?

THIS WEEK YOU ASKED THE GST CONSUMER INFORMATION OFFICE.

Q: I'm thinking of buying a new car in 1991. How will the proposed GST affect prices?

A: The outgoing Federal Sales Tax (FST) is now part of the price of new cars. So, while they will be fully taxed at 7% in 1991, the expected effect of replacing the FST with the GST on the average $22,000 mid-size car is a reduction of around $850.

Q: My son has figured out it will cost $500 in lumber to build a dock at our cottage if he bought it now. How much will that lumber cost with the proposed GST?

A: You can expect to pay about $512 for that same amount of lumber for personal use based solely on the changeover from the FST to the GST.

Q: I know the proposed GST won't apply to city bus fares but I take the commuter train to work. Will I have to pay GST?

A: No. Daily commuter trains are considered a municipal transit service, so fares are exempt from GST.

We're here to answer your questions about how the GST will affect prices. Call us toll-free Monday to Friday 9am-9pm. Ask for your free copy of the "Consumer's Guide to the GST and Prices."

The answer is to call your GST Consumer Information Office.

County still united behind Official Plan

by Susan Grober

Councillors of Haliburton County have made it clear to the province they are united in the move toward a county-wide Official Plan.

Because of recent bad press regarding some council's comments on proposals made by county planner Mark Stagg, council unanimously passed a resolution supporting the move at last Wednesday's meeting to ensure the Ministry of Municipal Affairs is aware all municipalities support the Official Plan.

"The Ministry, having been stung at one time or another in the past, is reluctant to fund something we're not 100 per cent behind," explained Management Committee Chairman Maurice Bradley. "I think that comes from some of the press statements when council's not behind Mr. Stagg. I could hold up the process if we do not get (the resolution) in immediately."

Some councillors were confused by the resolution, thinking they were being asked to endorse a draft proposal for the beginning stages of the Official Plan which was circulated by Stagg.

Glamorgan Reeve Bob McCausland said his council couldn't offer its support until he and fellow councillors better understood the proposal. "I'm confused about how to present this to my council," he said.

Warden Don Shortreed suggested Stagg be asked to address Glamorgan council (more on page 23)

Residents will trim Main St. tree

Drive and wind its way through the village to end up at the arena.

After the parade Santa will go to the Minden firehall where children can whisper their last minute requests, get their picture taken with the world-famous celebrity and receive a little treat from Santa's bag of goodies.

On Sunday, all residents are invited to help decorate the tree in front of the CIBC on Main Street.

Kinette Carol Martin says Harvey MacIntosh will be giving rides in a horse-drawn wagon and hot chocolate will be available.

"I haven't had a negative comment, everyone thinks it's great," says Martin. "I hope the response is as good on Sunday as everybody's telling me."

Students of Archie Stouffer Elementary School have been busy creating their own decorations to add to the tree on Sunday and Martin says all the parents have been invited to help their children hang the decorations.

The tree trimming will begin at about 2:30 p.m. on Sunday and Hydro employee Larry Amyotte will be on hand with a bucket truck to reach the upper branches.

Residents are welcome to bring any decorations from home that they want to add to the tree. Local businesses have gotten together to donate some of the lights.

"I want the community to feel this is their tree," says Martin.

Moore says if this Community Christmas weekend is a success, it could become an annual tradition in Minden. "The whole concept is exciting."

IN A WORLD OF RISING ENERGY PRICES

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN MAKE EVERY DROP COUNT.

- Don't exceed speed limits. Reducing your speed from 120 km/h to 100 km/h will save 23% in gasoline costs.
- Cutting back from 100 km/h to 80 km/h will save about 18%.

YOUR HOME

A major amount of our annual energy use goes to heat our homes. Here are a few tips on how to take some of the heat off your home energy costs.

HEATING

- If you lower your thermostat from 22°C to 20°C during the day and to 17°C at night you could save up to 15% on your heating bills.
- Oil furnaces should be tuned up once a year.
- Clean or replace furnace filters regularly.
- Seal your furnace ductwork with duct tape and insulate hot air ducts passing through unheated spaces.

WEATHERPROOFING

- Weatherstrip windows and doors.
- Caulk windows and door frames.
- Insulate attic, walls and basement to recommended levels. Install a vapour barrier where necessary.

The situation in the Middle East has driven up the world price for oil and every country is feeling the effect.

But there are a lot of things you can do to use less energy and help reduce your costs. You can make every drop count. Right now.

Not only will you be reducing your costs, you'll be helping the environment by cutting back on greenhouse gases and the use of fossil fuels.

Here are just a few tips.

YOUR CAR

Here's how to drive down costs.

- Walking will save 100% of your fuel costs.
- Using public transportation will save a lot, too.
- Having your car well tuned and serviced regularly can save you 10% in fuel costs.

YOUR WORLD

Just about every piece of plastic that you use is derived from a fossil fuel. The production of paper, metal and glass uses enormous amounts of energy. So the 3R's of environmental protection are vital as well. Reduce your energy needs whenever you can. Reuse bags, containers, bottles and wrappings when possible. Your community probably has local recycling programs in which you can get involved.

Councils asked to support Official Plan on the subject.

Bradley stressed the resolution has nothing to do with the draft proposal, which would be discussed later by council council. "We'll talk about it, tear it apart, whatever you want."

"All we're doing is asking for support," said Shortreed.

"This all comes about because of the press that has come out in the last couple of weeks," added Chief Administrative Officer Gary McKnight.

McKnight was referring to reports on some councils' opposition to Stagg's proposal to hire another county planner on a user-fee basis.

"We didn't make a commitment that we'll spend thousands of dollars before we even have an Official Plan," said Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis.

Shortreed again stressed that the resolution is just to re-state the county's support of having an Official Plan. "The way we institute the thing is completely up to us, but nobody knows that because we haven't even gotten that far," he said.

Bradley said county council previously passed a resolution stating if funding were made available Stagg could hire a planner and see a consultant. "But the government says we're not going to provide any funding until you come together."

Dysart Reeve Bill Davis said he is also confused about the matter. "I think councils have a lot of questions we would like to have answered," he said, adding, "We haven't given Mr. Stagg a mandate."

"All we want is to establish to the ministry that we want to have an Official Plan," said Shortreed. "You're going back on what we already said."

The resolution is needed to put any fears the ministry may have to rest, said Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe, "so they can't say, 'We're not going to get stung by Haliburton like we did by Victoria County.'"

Lutterworth Reeve Carol Puffer added that there is a new ministry since the last provincial election, so the resolution is needed "just to re-confirm our standpoint."

Minden Reeve Ray Moore said: "We're running into a problem because Mark, in his wisdom, felt he should give an overall concept to the councils. But council did not have the advantage of perusing that and asking questions."

To clear up any confusion between the resolution and the draft proposal, McKnight changed the wording of the resolution requesting that municipal councils support the idea of an Official Plan as they have previously.

County roads projects finished

The county roads department has completed its 1990 construction program for three reasons, says committee chairman and Glamorgan Reeve Bob McCausland.

"The budget's spent, the subsidy's spent, and the weather's changing," he told fellow county councillors at last Wednesday's meeting.

The construction budget and supplementary funding has been used up for a number of projects.

Harburn Road: a culvert has been placed, and fill material is in over the swamp area to connect with Highway 118. The area from the cemetery to the turn past Bird's is completed for the winter, and the remainder will be finished in the spring and opened next year.

Kawagama Lake Road: pavement has been placed, and seeding done. The road has been open to the public, with some very good comments on the end result.

Deep Bay Road: Seeding is completed and guide posts have been put in.

Also, MPP Dennis Drainville joined the county on its road tour, "and got a chance to see what we have accomplished with our funds and other work that must be carried out," said McCausland.

Local skaters do well at event

Cori Barkwell, Janene Garbutt, Kristi Barkwell and Lisa Carr (not shown) all did very well at the 1990 Eastern Ontario Sectionals held in Peterborough recently, placing in the top 10 for their respective events.

The Peterborough Figure Skating Club was the perfect host for the 1990 Eastern Ontario Sectionals.

The results from our local skaters are: Kristi Barkwell placing 9th and Janene Garbutt placing 4th in their flights of the Ladies Juvenile "B" Event.

Cori Barkwell placing 2nd in her free-skate flight which qualified her to advance to the finals. The finals were a figure and freeskate combined in which Cori placed 11th in figure and 9th in freeskate ending up 9th overall in the Pre-Novice "B" Event.

Lisa Carr competed in the Junior Ladies Event doing an impressive artistic skate in her long and short program.

We would like to compliment coach Jane Symons, judge Toni Carr and choreographer Barrie Wood for all their time and help with the skaters in each area of their expertise.

We thank those that were able to attend these events. This was a very competitive event in which the Minden skaters did an excellent representation on our behalf.

Mushers busy training teams before snow flies

It is only in the last couple of weeks that traces of snow have indicated what is just around the corner. Winetr is not far off. But despite the fact the land is not covered by a blanket of white, mushers across North America, and right here in Minden, already have two months of training behind their teams. Ahead lies another season of competition in venues throughout the northern portion of the continent.

One of the first major races of the season is the Minden Martin Techni-Cal Challenge Sled Dog Derby. This year's event is scheduled for January 12 and 13.

Sled dogs are frankly out of condition after a lazy summer when temperatures are too high for training runs. But, if mushers wait until there is a good base of snow on which to train, there is precious little time to get the teams into shape before the first race of the season. So how do they do it?

Before the snow flies, most mushers use a home-made, three wheeled training rig. The driver rides on a platform at the back while the dogs are hitched in their usual harness. As with any athlete in training, mushers start their dogs off slowly with relaxed runs of short distances, giving the animals and driver a chance to build up their strength and endurance gradually.

Training follows a progressive schedule, starting with teams of eight to twelve dogs running about three miles over 15 to 20 minutes. By the time the season arrives, each dog will have run 300 to 400 miles--the driver much more. When the snow is finally deep enough to carry the sled, driver and team should be moving at an average of 18 to 20 miles an hour to be competitive.

Not only do the dogs need to regain their physical conditioning, they also need to be retrained in the business of being a team. Dog drivers use this period to find out which dogs are losing their edge through age or for other reasons and which yearlings are ready for the challenge of the race course. It's also an opportunity to give the puppies a taste of what running and pulling are all about.

Each place on the team, from lead dog at the front, to wheel dogs at the back, involves a particular kind of job and some dogs are better suited to one than another. Early training gives the musher a chance to try dogs out in various positions to determine which one they are best at. The dog that wasn't very good at lead last year, may be ready for that responsibility. This is the time of the year to find out.

By the time the season starts, the musher has assessed the strengths and weaknesses of each dog in the kennel and chosen the ones that will make up the team. Only those that have proven they work best will actually race. But back-up dogs will be needed during the season and they too must be in top physical and mental shape. Taking them along to races also gets them used to the excitement of the event so they can handle it when their day comes.

The Minden race is one of the most exciting events on the racing circuit for a number of reasons. It attracts the world's top competitors, it offers the racing circuit's toughest course, and, thanks to the Main Street start and finish, provides spectators with a close-up view of the action. Spectators are also welcome to visit the "dog pit" (as the area is called where the dog trucks are parked.) There spectators can get a closer look at the dogs and talk to the mushers about the sport.

The Minden Martin Techni-Cal Challenge Sled Dog Derby is also one of North America's top racing venue because of the generous purse up for grabs. Race sponsor, Martin Pet Foods of Elmira have made a commitment to ensure the Minden race is the best in North America. The $25,100 cash prize purse is the largest for any sprint race on the circuit.

So, while the first few flakes of winter drift from the sky, mushers are well on their way to preparing their teams for another exciting season racing. And as they hurry to get their teams in shape, they have their eye on the premier racing event of the new year, The Minden Martin Techni-Cal Challenge, a great weekend, January 12 and 13.

Ministry will stop selling licences

In Minden District hunting and fishing licences will be sold at selected retail outlets only, as of December 1, 1990. Licences for these activities will no longer be available at Ministry of Natural Resources offices after that date.

"Over the last few years, we have developed quite a network of sport stores, marinas, and tourist operators where hunters and anglers can buy their licences," said Al Stewart, regional director for MNR in Huntsville. "The private sector will handle all of our sales for hunting and fishing licences. That helps both the sportsman and the retailer through convenience to buyers and greater sales opportunities for retailers."

Ministry offices will continue to provide: hunting and fishing information, land use permits on Crown land, work permits for alterations on Crown land and shoreline development projects, district timber cutting licences, and fuelwood cutting licences.

The majority of hunting and fishing licences are being sold through stores and tourist operations throughout Ontario.

DRUG ABUSE: Elderly are often unseen victims

It may not be as dramatic as the situation on the streets of major North American cities, but it is nonetheless as serious and worrisome a problem. Drug abuse among the elderly members of the population is one of increasing concern and was the topic under discussion at a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The seminar on drug abuse among the elderly was sponsored by the Haliburton County Home Support Services and featured specialists who examined the problem from a number of angles.

It was pointed out that drug abuse among the elderly does not generally follow the pattern of that found on the street. Elderly people, however can become just as addicted to drugs, most of which they obtain legally through prescription or over the counter purchases. As well, these addictions can have just as serious impact on the well-being of the senior as the crippling effects of street drugs.

Guest Speaker, Dr. Barry Wilson, a geriatric specialist from Toronto, described a common form of senior drug abuse as "polypharmacy". He said this was a condition where an individual experiences excessive and inappropriate use of prescription drugs. He pointed out this problem can arise with as few as two differing prescriptions being taken by the same person. While on the other hand someone can be safely taking four or five different medications without experiencing problems. However, he did say it was exceptional for an individual to require more than three or four medications.

Among the hazards Dr. Wilson identified were:

- adverse reactions to a single drug, such as the hemorrhaging that can result from the inappropriate use of aspirin.

- adverse reaction created by the combination of two drugs. He cited an instance where the properties of one drug may be strengthened to the point of creating a dangerous reaction, in the presence of another drug.

- elderly people generally experience stronger reaction to drugs and so dosages should be adjusted accordingly, especially when self-administering over the counter remedies.

- the elderly generally have reduced capacity for dealing with excessive drugs. For example, as the body ages, the clearing capacity of the kidneys is reduced, which means the usual dose of a drug could remain in the elderly body longer than a younger body.

- the problem of inappropriate consumption of drugs can also create problems among the elderly. Ignoring or misinterpreting the instructions is sometimes a cause of drug abuse.

Dr. Wilson noted that we live in a world where people often expect "instant solutions" to problems they face. Often, the elderly, seeking to alleviate a problem immediately, will insist on a prescription solution every time they visit a doctor. Wilson pointed out there are many valuable and useful drugs which can make life more enjoyable and "liveable", but that many of these carry a long-term cost that can far outweigh the immediate short-term benefits.

As an example he cited the use of anti-depressants, such as Valium. He offered high praise for the drugs in this group for alleviating anxiety. However, he noted that after use of the drug over a number of weeks, the body adjusts to the altered state induced by the drug and attempts to recreate a "normal" state. Abandonning the use of the drug at this point can often lead to greater anxiety than was initially experienced resulting in requests for stronger doses.

Complicating this situation can be the mixing of other drugs, prescriptions, over the counter or alcohol to greatly distort the impact of the drug and often resulting in a complete reversal of the initial

Lack of federal policy leads to dam confusion

Here in Europe, there is little news about Canada and I have not been able to follow what is happening back home.

When I left two weeks ago, dams were in the news--on the Rafferty and Alameda in Saskatchewan, the Oldman in Alberta and the Great Whale in Quebec. The fact that they are controversial reflects the lack of a coherent federal environment policy and the will to enforce it.

The fate of many ecosystems in Canada now seems to hinge on the application of an environmental assessment of proposed developments like dams. It's ironic that so much hinges on an EA. Scientists are still trying to describe the elementary units of matter and how they interact while our knowledge about how gene activity is controlled or cells function is primitive. And when it comes to communities of organisms in complex ecosystems, most of the component species are not yet identified, so we have very little insight into their interaction and interdependence.

Given the state of our ignorance, the notion that in only a few months, enough information can be collected to assess the consequences of massive projects like dams, aluminum plants of pulp mills, is ludicrous. The so-called "data" assembled in an EA area are so limited in scale, scope and duration as to be virtually worthless scientifically. At the very least, an EA should be initiated from profound sense of humility at the inadequacy of our knowledge. At best, the EA can highlight questions, reveal areas of ignorance and warn of potentially sensitive effects. Anyone who claims to know enough to predict with confidence the consequences of new developments simply doesn't understand the limited nature of scientific knowledge.

In our form of government, only people vote, while trees, owls and rivers don't. A minister designated to protect the environment, therefore, must act according to the demands of a human electorate. So a watershed, old growth forest, ocean bottom or newly discovered oil deposit can only be assessed in terms of potential human utility. If trees could vote, we would have radically different priorities. Since they can't, society must incorporate an ecological perspective in our value system that must be especially understood by environment ministers.

Federal Environment Minister Robert de Cotret and his predecessor, Lucien Bouchard, have not exhibited any understanding of the value of ecological diversity nor developed a vision of current events in the context of past and future generations.

In their feeble attempts to force legally requires EAs on the provinces, the ministers have dickered, threatened and perhaps made secret deals, yet all the while, development continued! What use is debate over the future of an old growth forest, for example, if the trees are being cut down as the argument is going on? Yet that's what de Cotret is allowing over the Rafferty and Alameda dams. De Cotret says an EA on the Oldman dam can be carried out after its completion. That's like going an Ea on the future of a forest after it's been clearcut. And anyway, what megaproject has ever been modified or dismantled after the fact?

Phase II of the James Bay project is a critical test of federal commitment to the environment. There are compelling reasons--economic, environmental, cultural and social--to question the sanity of this second stage of the largest development in North American history.

But Premier Robert Bourassa has pinned his future in politics and history on the immense plan to harness hydroelectricity in the north. He and his energy minister, Lise Bacon (ironically, the former environment minister), threaten massive energy shortages and loss of enormous economic benefits unless the Great Whale project begins immediately.

But the Inuit and the Cree who live in the area are militantly opposed to the dam and argue that no amount of money will make up for the complete devastation of their traditional way of life. Economists say the project is a fiscal swamp that will be paid for by the future generations while environmentalists predict an ecological disaster.

De Cotret has suggested that the massive and environmentally destructive system of roads and

by David Suzuki

infrastructure for the hydroelectric project can be assessed independently of the dams. He doesn't understand that they are a part of a whole and must be evaluated in toto.

People are what they do, not what they say. The provincial premiers, for all their rhetoric of environmental concern, are preoccupied with maximizing economic returns regardless of environmental consequences.

Inadequate as an EA is, it is the only way at present to raise substantive ecological questions. The federal government must demand a full EA on the entire James Bay project before Phase II begins.

Algonquin Park prepares for the "other season"

"With a busy summer season behind us, Algonquin Park staff are preparing for the upcoming winter recreation season," said Ernie Martelle, Park Superintendent of Algonquin Park.

Two new services have been added this season to support our winter users of Algonquin Park. The Canadian Ski Patrol Association will be assisting with trail coverage on weekends. Also this year, Algonquin Outfitters will be offering skis, snowshoes and winter camping sleeping bags and tents for rent. This service will be operated on weekends and located at the West Gate of the Park. Large group rentals should contact Algonquin Outfitters directly at 705-635-2243.

Algonquin Park presently has four cross country ski trails. They are Fen Lake, Mew Lake, Minnesing and Leaf Lake Ski Trails. The trails offer a variety of conditions for novices and experts alike. Trail conditions will be regularly posted at the fee station at each trail head. Use of the ski trail system is covered by your annual Provincial Park permit ($50) or by a daily vehicle permit ($5) payable at the trail head fee stations, or at the East and West Gates on weekends.

Camping is also permitted in the interior Park (no permit required). You may wish to use one of the groomed ski trails to enter the interior (no toboggans, please!), but camping within sight or sound of the ski trails, or in areas where there is a good supply of standing dead firewood for warmth and cooking (i.e. at edges of beaver meadows).

For a less strenuous camping experience, Mew Lake Campground along Hwy. 60 Corridor is open. A ploughed parking lot is maintained near the entrance. The fee is $8/night (includes free use of trails). There are no portable water or electrical outlets, however, free firewood is available.

Showshoeing and back country skiing enthusiasts can go virtually anywhere in Algonquin. If a definite trail is preferred, ample scope is provided by the ten short walking trails along the highways or either of the two long backpacking trails.

This year for the first time, Bartlett Lodge will offer accommodation in the Park from December 7 to March 31, 1991.

Gasoline, food and accommodation can be found in Whitney (5 km beyond the East Gate, or in Oxtongue Lake or Dwight (approx. 6 km beyond the West Gate).

"In addition, the Park and the Whitney Ski Club also sponsors the annual Algonquin Park Marathon and Loppet, to be held February 9 and 10, 1991," said Ernie Martelle, Park Superintendent of Algonquin Park.

Further information on Algonquin Park in winter can be obtained by writing the Ministry of Natural Resources, Box 219, Whitney, Ontario, K0J 2M0

Elderly can avoid the drug abuse trap

Dr. Wilson said there was a number of things an elderly individual could do to avoid falling into a drug abuse/addiction situation. He suggested:

- seniors should talk to their doctors about alternative ways of solving a medical problem. He noted there are some instances where drugs provide the only, best and safest way to protect oneself against a condition. However, in other instances, lifestyle changes such as diet, exercise, rest, etc. could lead to a solution without the introduction of a drug. He suggested patients should not expect an 'instant' remedy in a pill everytime they take a complaint to a doctor.
- dated medicine should be discarded.

A prescription issued a year ago may not be appropriate for use today because of changes which have occurred since it was first issued.

- follow the instructions issued with a prescription. The effects of some drugs are reduced or negated when taken at the wrong time or out of sequence.

- ensure that your doctor is aware of the prescription drugs you are currently taking when a new prescription is issued. This will eliminate potential drug-to-drug reactions. Ask about restrictions on alcohol consumption in relation to the taking of the prescription.

- confused? Ask your pharmacist or doctor. They have the information and knowledge to ensure that the drugs you are taking are compatible and best for you.

Also speaking at the seminar was Beth Zwecher of the Fourcast drug and alcohol rehabilitation service with an office in Minden. She noted that her service has dealt with seniors who have had problems with drugs or alcohol. She suggested that one of the reasons for substance abuse among the elderly is the increased amount of spare time these people have available to them. Retirement results in many free hours. People who do not have interests to occupy their time may find escape in substances that eventually prove to be addictive.

Zwecher said it was important for the elderly person to retain strong ties to the community, family and have self-esteem.

An individual who has a spiritual outlook (not necessarily religious) on the world, will find it easier to resist the trap of addiction.

She told the gathering that unfortunately there was no prevention program directed at the elderly members of our community in regard to addiction. Constable Mike Maybee of the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, who served as master of ceremonies for the seminar, suggested there was a need for such an education program.

The formal presentations, which included an explanation of the legalities surrounding drug abuse by Constable John Green of the Peterborough office of the RCMP, was followed by a question and answer session before concluding.

Museum Committee wraps up another year

The County Town Museum Committee complete their very successful year at their meeting the morning of November 20 in the Museum with Stan Hill presiding. Reports were given and members were invited to the Municipal Party in December.

A letter of appreciation and congratulations was read from Marlis Lindsay of New Horizons. This committee plans to have Museum and Homestead open in 1991 from mid-May to Thanksgiving and hopefully will have an employee to be working as well as a student. Members have been requested to notify Council in writing if they will continue participating.

A ramp for Museum and Bowron Homestead may be constructed.

Wyn Newberry reported some articles donated to our buildings and Jeanne Sears had some clippings from Minden's Centennial of 1959 and these will be placed under plastic for safety. Our secretary, Irene Moore, received a vote of thanks for her fine work as she took over part way through this year. We also wished Henry Webert a Happy 80th Birthday on this, his special day.

There were 11 members present. Next meeting planned for January 30, 1991 at 10 a.m.

Faulty coffeemaker recalled

by Doreen Hawman

An article in the fall issue of the Canadian Standards Association booklet, "The Consumer", warns of a defective part found in coffeemakers manufactured by Proctor-Silex Canada Inc. during 1985 and 1986.

The potential fire hazard, discovered by Proctor-Silex, results from an improper operation of a component part of the coffeemaker, supplied by another company.

To correct the defect,

Proctor-Silex has announced a voluntary recall of their 10-cup drip coffeemaker Model A474AL, Type A3, with Series Numbers ending in 58 or 68. Units marked with Series Numbers A1558 or AS3058 are NOT being recalled.

Owners of the recalled coffeemakers are asked to discontinue use and mail the basic unit and their return address (do not return the glass carafe, lid or basket) to: Proctor-Silex Canada Inc. Product Safety Department, Dept. 5514,

P.O. Box 1630A, Picton, Ontario, K0K 2T0.

Copies of the fall issue of "The Consumer" can be obtained free of charge by visiting your nearest Information Centre.

In Haliburton, the centre is located in the Drag River Municipal Building, Maple Ave., open Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733. The satellite office in Minden is open Monday and Tuesday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 286-4100. If you live outside the toll-free area, please call collect.

Many agencies in our community need volunteers to assist with their programs. If you would like to help, please call the information centre for details.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters.

Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

November W.I. meeting

The November 21st meeting of Minden Women's Institute was at the Library Cultural Centre and had amusing answers to the Roll Call of a "Bargain that wasn't" with shoes most confusing to all. The Committee to plan programme for Christmas meeting are Jean Lacey and Irene Moore. We are all invited to the Volunteers Tea at Hyland Crest Wednesday, November 28 at 2 p.m. Mrs. C. Lacey had been our Delegate to Area Convention and she gave us a full report and many good ideas. The Victoria East Bus to Erland Lee Home December 1 was mentioned but no one replied.

Following this Mrs. D. Berry, Convenor of Agriculture, then read that tobacco leaves may be used in some way for nutrition and then a movie "Seeing Things" was shown by Jean Lacey. All responded with their hearty appreciation.

The meeting adjourned and articles turned in were sold off with Gwen Cox, auctioneer. Thanks to her for her good salesmanship. A delicious lunch and cup of tea were served by the Lunch committee. Our next meeting is at the United Church Hall on December 19 at 2 p.m., with gift exchange and members please bring a guest to this, our Christmas Meeting.

Residents enjoy tea and youth choir

Hi! We have had a few more beautiful days.

November 8 we had our usual tea party, this time it was brought by the Harcourt Christian Chapel and School. A program was given by the pupils of this school. The whole school choir sang a couple of selections, the very small children sang children's hymns, a couple of the older boys and girls helped to serve the lovely lunch. We certainly enjoyed the children's programs and the lunch. We thank them heartily. Since I was asked out for most of the afternoon, Rheta Jones our administrator thanked the people from Harcourt for me.

I had dinner downtown with Norma and Terry. I was home in time for bingo. The callers were Marg Prentice and Sheila Carrell. We thank them for a happy evening.

Friday was Happy Hour with entertainment by Marion Irwin playing the piano. The volunteers who

by Winnifred Barnum looked after the needs of the residents were Bonnie Fullan, Don and Ellen Holden and Mary Guillem. Thank you for being so helpful and thanks to Marion Irwin, we do appreciate your entertaining us very much.

Saturday afternoon, Lorraine Hutchinson was here playing the piano for the residents who thank her heartily for entertaining them.

Congratulations to two of our residents who recently had birthdays, Mary Burgess November 18 and Margaret Sisson, also November 18. Unfortunately, they are confined to their beds.

Friday afternoon Terry and Norma were going to Peterborough for the week and they took me to my sister's where I stayed until Sunday evening. Sunday Jack took May, Roy and I for a drive over to Cobourg to where I used to live. Cobourg has certainly changed since I moved, especially around the area I lived in.

Reverend John Burgess had the chapel service Sunday evening with Alice Jones at the organ. I believe there was a good number there to enjoy the service.

Well, Monday morning Doris was back. While she was away, everyone in the home was to make a hat to wear on Hatters Day (Monday). There were 23 who wore hats, no two were the same. In the afternoon we had a judging of our hats. The two judges were Evelyn Coleman and Ellen Holden. We went up before them and turned around so they could see both back and front. We all received prizes, because all hats were different. The hats were judged by what they made the judges think of, such as Pearl Lyle's hat - Miss Christmas, Maron Rose - Miss Mad Hatter, Lola Prentice - Miss Birds Nest, etc. Everyone enjoyed Hatters Day immensely and appreciate the prizes very much.

Monday we also had Evelyn Coleman for bible study. Our first study was on Elizabeth in the New Testament and this time the bible study was The Story of Mary, the mother of Jesus. Thank you Evelyn for bible study and for helping us have such a good Hatters Day.

Monday evening Tom McAllister came to show the movies to us. The first one was "Richard and the Totem Pole" and the second was "Backyard Wildlife". Thank you again for helping with our amusement.

Tuesday was our Christmas Bazaar and Tea. It was a beautiful day and we had a very good number attend. We had a raffle for a large centre cloth and the ticket that won belonged to Pearl Lyle. Everything sold very well and we are happy that the tea was such a success.

Monday and Tuesday were such beautiful days and because of such good weather, Doris planned a bus drive for Wednesday around the loop. The day turned cloudy with a cold wind which wasn't as pleasant as could be. We had our ice cream cone anyway before we came home.

Wednesday evening Pastor Murray and his helpers were here conducting service in the main lounge. On behalf of the residents who were there I wish to thank Pastor Murray and his helpers very much.

CARD OF THANKS

Thank you to all the friends and relatives who helped Breanna Barras celebrate her 4th birthday on Sunday, November 18 at her home in Peterborough. This was Breanna's first birthday at home and she appreciated seeing so many people who travelled from around Ontario to attend. Thank you to all the people who helped organize a party that Breanna and her family will always remember. Extra special thanks to Aunt Pennay for the Barbie Doll cake, to Nanny and great-grandma for making all the food and to Poppa for having the patience to put up with all the confusion. Thanks also to Uncle Myles for the wonderful video, something we can cherish forever and to Gran and Granpa Barras for attending. Extra special thanks to the Nurses from Nightingale for helping Mummy keep Breanna healthy so she could attend. Thank you Daddy for the hugs and kisses.

IN MEMORIAM

BURKE, CECIL: In loving memory of my dear husband Cecil, who passed away November 17, 1987.

I remember the day I met you,
And the day God made you mine.

I remember the day I lost you,
And I will until the end of time.

Among my tears and heart-aches,
One thing makes me glad,

That you chose me to share with you,
Those precious years we had.

Sleep gently Cecil until we meet again.

Your loving wife Jean.

DAVIES: In loving memory of a dearly loved friend, Norma C. Davies, lost to us November 23, 1986.

We often sit and think of her
When we are all alone
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

Very much missed and never forgotten.

Her Friends

IN MEMORIAM

DAVIES: In loving memory of our dear mother Norma C. Davis, taken from us November 23, 1986.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true

There is not a day, dear mother
That we do not think of you.

Always remembered and sadly missed by her family.

Steve & family, Tim and Tara.

HUGHES: In loving memory of our dear sons and brothers who passed away suddenly, Laverne, August 20, 1978, and Lanny, November 29, 1982.

Time may heal the broken hearted,
Years may make the wound less sore.

But it cannot fill the longing
For the loved ones gone before.
Who shall say the grief is lessened

Though the smiles may hide the tears,
Memories keep the wound still open,

Despite the passing of the years.

Sadly missed and ever remembered by Mom, Dad, Lenore, Neil & Wendy, Bryce & Cathy & families.
